I got XM radio specifically for the traffic and weather update capability. I have a long commute (1 hr+ each way), in an extremely congested metropolitan area (Dallas-Ft Worth), and it has been a major timesaver to be able to access instant, detailed traffic reports for my city when I need them. With commercial radio, you are at the mercy of their programmers as to when they give a traffic report, and I've found them to be sketchy at best. PLEASE don't be swayed by the commercial radio lobby. There is a reason that I pay my XM radio bill each month: commercial radio does not meet (or care about) my needs.
Sincerely,

M. Collins
